Vol. 124 (July--December 2017)

Five-layered tumor-containing cell sheet was prepared by mixing a small population of embryonal rhabdomyosarcoma cells with their healthy counterpart, human skeletal muscle myoblasts and the behavior of endothelial cells in tumor-containing cell sheet was investigated. The photograph shows the degradation of endothelial network formation (green) in the tumor-containing cell sheet (red) at the end of culture.

For more information regarding this work, read the article: Menglu Li and Masahiro Kino-oka, "Degradation of endothelial network in disordered tumor-containing cell sheet, J. Biosci. Bioeng., volume 123, issue 6, pages 748–753 (2017).

⇒JBBアーカイブ: Vol.107 (2009) ~最新号

⇒JBBアーカイブ: Vol. 93 (2002) ~Vol. 106 (2008)